

Business Continuity Management

A blurred landscape photograph showing a field in the foreground, a fence line, and a large building in the distance under a dramatic, orange and red sunset sky.

Too often organisations identify and plan to mitigate risks without establishing a strategy to deal with the actual outcomes of business critical events. Irrespective of the risk controls in place, having a level of risk means there remains a probability of an event occurring. Sometimes, irrespective of the controls in place, the worst events, the potential ‘show stoppers’, eventuate.

By establishing effective Business Continuity Management Systems (BCMS) Karza helps organisations of all sizes build and improve resilience within their business; significantly improving their likelihood of recovering from potential disruptions and ‘show stoppers’. We design and tailor BCMS (including ISO22301 structured systems) to compliment your existing risk management framework, emergency response procedures and your incident management system.

contact.us@karza.com.au